

Families forcibly separated at the U.S. border can reunify in the United States

Parents and children who were forcibly separated by the U.S. government at the U.S.-Mexico border between January 20, 2017 - January 20, 2021, can apply to return to the United States and reunify.

Thousands of families were separated under the zero-tolerance policy. Nothing can ever take away the pain these separations caused, but families now have a chance to apply to return to the United States, reunify, and receive support.

Please do not pay anyone money to help you with this process.

This process is free.

If you are:

- A parent or legal guardian who was separated from your child, who was under the age of 18, by the U.S. government at the U.S.-Mexico border between January 20, 2017 - January 20, 2021 OR
- A child who was under the age of 18 at the time of separation, and was separated from a parent or legal guardian by the U.S. government at the U.S.-Mexico border between January 20, 2017 - January 20, 2021.

Please call the Help Desk at KIND for more information and assistance.

KIND's Help Desk

KIND's Help Desk provides free information and assistance.

KIND can answer your questions and help you complete the registration form to see if you are eligible for reunification in the United States.

If someone you know was separated from their parent or child by the U.S. government, at the U.S.-Mexico border, between January 20, 2017 - January 20, 2021 please tell them to call the Help Desk:

Interpreters are available.

In Brazil, call: +55-21-3500-8817

In El Salvador, call: +503-2136-1163

In Guatemala, call: +502-2302-5773

In Honduras, call: +504-2217-0379

In Mexico, call: +52-55-8897-5395

In Nicaragua, call: +505-7517-8143

In the United States, call: +1-213-454-0527

To learn more about the Family Reunification Task Force, and to register to start the reunification process, go to the family reunification website at:

<https://www.together.gov>

KIND can help you register your case.

KIND is a non-profit organization dedicated to protecting migrant children around the world. In the U.S. we provide free lawyers to assist children with their legal immigration cases. KIND and our partners in Guatemala and Honduras have worked with separated families since 2017. KIND's outreach work and Help Desk support is being done in partnership with Justice in Motion and UNHCR, the UN Refugee Agency.